Cayley District Farm Exhibits

Editor of the Hustler Sir—I was glad to notice in last week's Hustler, that you had taken up the subject of the Cayley district having an exhibit at important exhibitions, such as the one recently held at Spokane.

I have wondered many times why some of our enterprising farmers of this district have not taken up this subject before. Unquestionably this district could make a good display, and there is no reason why we should not be as successful as our neighbors to the south of us have recently been.

It is a credit to them and a just reward for their enterprise; and incidentally the whole of Southern Alberta gains by such advertising.

It is to be hoped that this matter will be taken up in real earnest another year by the farmers and others in this district. We have been boasting of our phenomenal crops and their high grading qualities, and also the high grade of our horses, cattle, fowl and general farm products, let us make good another year. It would astonish quite a number of people even this off year to see what this district has produced in crops and general farm produce.

A FARMER.

GLADYS

The most enjoyable event of the season was the Food Supper and Entertainment held last Friday evening under the auspices of the Gladys Methodist Ladies' Aid.
In a commodious vacant outbuilding, used sometimes as an outside storehouse for the Gladys store, a regular feast was spread.
There was roast fowl, salads, cakes, and many other delicacies, such as only Gladys ladies can produce.
About 100 people sat down, including many bachelors, who gloried in the opportunity of enjoying one good square meal.

The entertainment was held in the school house. Rev. Saunders, who occupied the chair, called on Miss McNeé, Windsor S. D. popular teacher, for the opening solo.
Mrs. Bushfield sang "Tit for Tat" and received an enthusiastic encore. The principal number of the program was a lecture by Rev. Mr. Bushfield of Cayley on his experiences in connection with the South African War. He was there with tent, tahki and all the personal accoutrements when in active service. Mr. Bushfield gave a very clear account of his soldier experiences to, from, and in Africa picturing very vividly many characteristic features of his experiences that were entirely novel to his hearers. Time after time the humorous features of the account brought rounds of applause from the auditors. Mrs. Young of Gladys as soloist, and Rev. Mr.
Ball of Blakie as elocutionist also contributed to the programme, which closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The proceeds amounted to a little more than $40.

We owe it to the community in which we live to do everything we can in every way possible that will be to its advantage. Our neighbor's prosperity means a great deal more to us than somebody who lives elsewhere. We should bear this in mind in buying our goods. We can afford to pay our home man a fair price for his wares rather than send our money away, knowing that every dollar our citizen makes will help in sustaining our school, churches and public institutions. It pays richly to patronize home industry.

Temperance

A Teetotal Lord Mayor

For the first time in its 700 years' history the city corporation of the British metropolis is to have a teetotal Lord Mayor next year.

"Yes, there never was another!" said Sir Vezey Strong, the gentleman who took the ancient record, when, in due course, he succeeds to the Lord Mayoral dignity. Speaking prior to the voting, the distinguished candidate said: "It's a bold departure if it should happen. For you must not forget that I am merely a candidate for the office. There are probably five or six other candidates, and the choice rests absolutely with the Livery of the City —which numbers no fewer than 8,000 voters—to say which of the candidates shall be elected to this ancient office."

The Corporation's views on Sir Vezey's temperance opinions remained, he said, to be seen. "I have always felt in the City of London that the greatest toleration is shown in these matters," remarked Sir Vezey, "and I have confidence in believing that the practice I have pursued for so many years, and intend to pursue for the rest of my life, will make no difference whatever to their undoubted right of selection for the post of Lord Mayor."

"And how do you drink the King's health?" was asked by a press representative. The coming Lord Mayor replied: "In such innocent liquids as happen to be at hand." King Edward expressly authorized, through an official communication, the drinking of his health in any non-intoxicating liquid; and King George V, very early in his reign, gave his permission to follow the practice.

During his year of office Sir Vezey states that he will entirely and absolutely "abstain." "But as for others," he remarked, "it would be presumptuous to dictate to those of mature age and equal or superior intelligence to myself what they should drink or eat.
They will therefore enjoy the same liberty as I claim for myself, and wines and other liquors will be provided for them. I have always acted in the same way in my own house."

It will be a source of satisfaction to temperance workers in Great Britain and elsewhere that Sir Vezey duly secured the majority at the election. When inaugurated in office he will be a distinguished and steadfast advocate of the teetotal principle.

A news dispatch from Halifax says that J. A. Johnson, president of the board of trade in that city, is going to locate in Calgary. That city is an irresistible magnet to business men who wish to improve their circumstances.

QUIET HOUR

The Good Shepherd

The Lord my pasture shall prepare;
And feed me with a shepherd's care; His presence shall be with me always,
My guide in with a watchful eye;

My noon-day walks He shall attend, And all my midnight hours defend.

When in the sultry glee I faint, Or the thirsty mountain pant;
To fervent tales and doleful moan, Where peaceful rivers, soft and slow,

Amid the verdant landscape flow.

Though in the paths of death I tread, With gloomy horrors all around me,
The faithful heart shall fear no ill,

For Thou, O Lord, art with me still;

Thy friendly crook shall give me aid,

And guide me through the dreadful shade.

Thought in a lone and rugged way, Through deserts sandy where I stray, The barren wilderness shall smile,
With sudden greens and herbage crow'd, And streams shall murmur all around.

—Joseph Addison.

The Road to Heaven

God knows what burdens will make His children strong. So He says to them: Every one shall bear his own burden. There is thy load, carry it; there is thy place, fill it; there is thy work, do it; and as thy day, so shall thy strength be; and in that direction each journey of life on earth should be taken.

Our Ever-Present Guide

We live our little lives. We go about our daily task. We sleep and we wake. But how seldom do we consider that, but for the guiding hand of Him who sits upon the girdle of the heavens and holds the reins of the chariot of the sun we might be whelmed and lost in illimitable space. This journey is not a figment of the imagination, but is a solid, tangible, demonstrable fact. The weight and terror of this conception, as of many other astronomical verities, are almost too great for the human spirit to bear, and when the thought comes home with gripping force the spirit cries out against it. But it is well, when such thoughts oppress one, to fall back upon the greater fact of a personal Providence, to rest securely in the knowledge that even in the whirling universe of starry systems, and in the depths of illimitable space, we are not lost, but are known individually and loved by One who is able to keep us even to the end.

Eczema Is Not a Blood Disease

For this reason internal treatment fails to cure—Success of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Experiments with the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment will soon convince anyone that Eczema is a disease of the skin and not of the blood.

A large number of cases brought about by Dr. Chase's Ointment have been cured, and the patient has become tired of tedious internal treatment with no apparent results.

Apply Dr. Chase's Ointment it is not only a quick relief but the dreadful itching and healing of the part of the skin that up the sores. When a case has failed to respond to the ordinary ointments you will wonder what the day you heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment can it be? Dr. Bates, or Edmanor, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. ST. VITUS DANCE

A Striking Example of Its Cure by the Tonic Treatment.

St. Vitus dance is the common form of epilepsy which afflicts children because of the great demands made on the body by growth and development, and there is the added strain caused by society, when these demands become so great that they force the child to rob their body of its full supply of nourishment, that the nervous debility which leads to St. Vitus dance.

The remarkable success of Dr. William Hall's Pink Pill in curing St. Vitus dance should lead parents to treat their children this great blood-thirsting disease with the same approach of the disease. Palor, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are the first symptoms, early show that the blood and nerves make it difficult to meet the demands made on them.

Virden, Man., says: "When my little girl was six years old she was attacked by St. Vitus dance. Her limbs would jerk and twitch. Her speech became confused. She would fall to the ground as she became so bad that she could scarcely walk, and we hurried to seek the care of a doctor, but in spite of this steadily growing worse, we feared to let her go to him. As Dr. William's Pink Pill had cured old Sir John's son, we decided to try this again. After the use of a few boxes, to our great gain, we found that a few weeks more her power of speech fully returned, and she was as well as any child, and she has been well and healthy since. When illness comes, we do not wait for it to come, we never call in a doctor, but simply use Dr. William's Pink Pill, and the cure is sure."

"Sot!"
Major Magee, of Pittsburg, was talking about an obstinate man, the mayor. "He is as bad as the old platter of history."

In the palmy days before the war, was blown up in a steamboat accident on the Mississippi River. At the end of an hour's manipulation he came out like this:

"I am?" he asked, biting his head freely.

"On shore," the doctor told him.

"Which side of the river?" inquired the Iowa side, the doctor replied.

The planter frowned. He looked at the turbid yellow stream. Then he said:

"Just my luck to land in a prohibition state. Chuck me in again."

Using Left-Over Apples
Three hundred green or poor quality apples, and Australian grapes are deriving considerable profit from apples thrown away. An apple-processor has been established, and a new industry started, which last year yielded profits of $25,000. The apples are peeled and cored, the cores are cut into chips and dried, and the chips are utilized, being exported to France for the manufacture of vinegar, saucers, etc.

CANNOT BE ARRESTED.

Ambassadors and Their Servants Are Immune.

Except on felony charges, persons of the rank, who are immune from arrest. If they are arrested for treason or felony they can demand to be tried by their fellow nobles, and should they be condemned to death, the King can not force them to death; they can exact the use of a silken cord instead of the hempen rope commonly used by the public hangman.

The King and servants of every one of the foreign embassies to the Court of James the First of England, the British Queen, even though they commit crimes, will not be tried by the English law.

The British colonies in America are the territory of the particular country or state which they inhabit.

The laws of the land passed by Parliament and the judges, being the law of the land, do not apply to the King, have no effect upon the persons residing in the little foreign embassies.

The reason why ambassadors and their servants have this advantage is that the average person, during the reign of Queen Anne a statue was passed by the law makers against an importation of slaves, the seizure of a Russian envoy's effects, this law, which was passed against the King, was not applied to the King.

The King, however, is the only person to whom the law applies.

The season for shooting prairie chicken will close on Nov. 1st. The law allows 100 birds to each person. Have you got your 100 yet?

It is with regret we learn of the death of Mr. Sinclair of Hernleigh, a brother to Donald Sinclair of Cayley. We all extend our sympathy to Mr. Sinclair and family.

The sale by auction on Tuesday came off very successfully. A large number were there, and the things took good prices. It is said that this sale will continue once a month in the future.

On account of the epidemic of typhoid fever, which is more or less general throughout the province, the precaution should be taken to boil all water before using it. Municipal councils should also appoint an inspector to look after all tanks used for the delivery of water.

Now is the time to subscribe for the Hustler and get a beautiful framed picture that is easily worth $1.50. By paying $1.00 you can have the Hustler for one year and your choice of a large assortment of pictures. This offer good only for a short while. Do it now.

The Presbyterian ladies' guild are to be congratulated on the splendid supper they gave on the evening of Oct. 18th. Everybody that partook of it enjoyed it. After the supper the Rev. Mr. Mitchell of Cayley entertained the large crowd that was present with magic lantern pictures of the Holy Land and Scotland. Mr. Sandy Durham, Cayley's piper, played the bagpipes and danced. Mr. Slater was the chairman of the evening.

Monday is Thanksgiving Day. Instead of holding the service of thanksgiving on that day, as was usual in the Presbyterian church before the change of day from Thursday to Monday, it will be held on the day preceding, Sunday, the 30th. The sermons in the Presbyterian hall on Sunday will be: At 11 a.m., "Why the Canadian Presbyterian Church Should Celebrate Thanksgiving?" and at 7.30 "God and Noah." Sunday school and bible class at 10.15 as usual.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church here wish to express in this way the thanks owing to the many friends who helped to make the harvest home festival the success it was.

Don't forget that the admission price to the Harvest Home supper in McDonald's Hall and the Concert in the Cayley Methodist church on Thanksgiving evening, Monday, Oct. 31st, was so arranged that you and your family could come. Don't miss hearing Miss Cissie Collard, the Welsh entertainer.

Two carloads of buffaloes passed through Stavely on Friday night, on their way to the government park near Edmonton. Quite a number of our citizens were down at the station to inspect these specimens of the prairie that once roamed these lands at will. This is the last consignment of buffaloes to the above park.

Cemetery Surveyors

The Government surveyor surveyed the new Cayley cemetery last Thursday. Now that the government have kindly done their part let each shareholder buy up so that the place can be nicely fenced.

An Eight Per Cent. Grade

Two surveys have been made on the proposed road running west of Cayley. The grade on both will be an eight per cent. One, this is supposed to be a two-horse grade. At present we do not know what grade the department will accept, but we hope to hear soon, and that the government will put in a good bridge and help considerably with the grading.

Role Stolen

If the person or persons that stole Mr. Walter Brown's robe of his buggy that last Tuesday night, Oct. 18th, thought that they were doing a smart act, we would like to inform them that a man who would be so low as to steal another man's robe out of his buggy and his wife and small children to drive home in the cold is no fit man to be allowed to run at large in a respectable community. Every effort should be put forth to capture the guilty party, and an example should be made of them.

Sunday School Convention

Next week, beginning Tuesday night, Nov. 1st, a convention in the interests of the Sunday school work of all Alberta will be held. It will run on till Friday, and even longer for those who are fond of a good concert by the residents of Sunday school scholars. The convention is open to all who are at all concerned in the work of systematic bible study for young and old. On Monday night and all day Tuesday there will be a Young Peoples' Society.

Instead of holding the service of thanksgiving on that day, as was usual in the Presbyterian church before the change of day from Thursday to Monday, it will be held on the day preceding, Sunday, the 30th. The sermons in the Presbyterian hall on Sunday will be: At 11 a.m., "Why the Canadian Presbyterian Church Should Celebrate Thanksgiving?" and at 7.30 "God and Noah." Sunday school and bible class at 10.15 as usual.

Mr. Neil Plummer left for the coast last night. His family will follow later. Mr. Plummer and family have been residents of the Cayley district for quite a number of years, and have a wide circle of friends who will miss them very much.

Died

At High River on Friday, Oct. 21st, 1910, Peter James Sinclair, aged 17 years, 4 months, 16 days. The funeral took place from the home of Donald Sinclair, near Cayley, to the Cayley cemetery at 2 o'clock on Sunday, Oct. 23rd, the funeral service being held at the Presbyterian church.

Of Interest to Farmers

In the district court this morning the case of the International Harvester Co. vs. Wahland was heard. The trouble arose over two machines purchased by Wahland in 1905, one of which was proved unsatisfactory and for which he refused to pay. The company delayed the repairs to it thereby causing the farmer considerable loss of time. Judge Taylor ruled that when Spring opens it is absolutely essential for the farmer to take advantage of every moment and no company has a right to cause him delay without suffering for it. Hence he dismissed the action and instructed Wahland to return the machines in view of the refusal of the company to separate the machines in the transaction.—Edmonton Journal

Beautiful Your Home.
